

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Sassan Seyrafi is an Assistant Professor of International Law at the Faculty of Law and Political Science of the University of Tehran, Iran. He is also Senior Researcher and Lecturer of International Law at the Institute of Public Law Studies of the University of Tehran. Dr. Seyrafi received his LL.B. from Allameh Tababa'i University (Iran) and LL.M. and Ph.D. in international law from the University of Tehran. His research interests are the law of the sea, international maritime law, the law of nuclear non-proliferation, arms control and disarmament and the law of armed conflict. He may be contacted at: sasanseyrafi@ut.ac.ir

Amir-Hossein Ranjbarian is an Associate Professor of International Law at the Faculty of Law and Political Science of the University of Tehran, Iran. Professor Ranjbarian earned his LL.B. and LL.M. from the University of Tehran and received his Ph.D. in international law from the University of Paris XIII (L'université Paris-13/Paris Nord). He has published books and numerous academic papers on international law at Iranian and foreign law journals. His areas of expertise are public international law, the law of armed conflict, international criminal law, the law of nuclear non-proliferation and arms control. He may be contacted at: arabjbar@ut.ac.ir

Sakda Thanitcul is currently a professor of law at Chulalongkorn University, Thailand. He teaches competition law, international economic law, tort and product liability law. Professor Thanitcul is presently serving as a Member of the Thai Trade Competition Committee, a Member of the Committee on Foreign Business Act and a Member of the Committee on Anti-dumping. He holds LL.B. from Chulalongkorn University, LL.M. and LL.D. from Kyoto University and the University of Washington. He may be contacted at: t.sakda@hotmail.com.

Amonwalai Ninpanich is currently a senior lawyer at Bangchak Corporation Public Company Limited. She is mainly practicing law of energy, investment in innovation businesses, and related corporate matters. She obtained LL.B. and LL.M. from Faculty of Law of Chulalongkorn University and LL.M. in Energy Law and Policy from the University of Dundee. Prior to joining Bangchak, Amonwalai spent almost seven years as a lecturer of law at the University of the Thai Chamber of Commerce. While teaching, she was also appointed as head of the office of legal affairs to advise any legal matters to the university. Amonwalai's research interest is in energy law and policy. She may be contacted at: aninpanich@gmail.com

Zewei Yang is a LuoJia Distinguished Professor and Scholar at Wuhan University School of Law, China. He obtained his Ph.D. in law from Wuhan University (1997). His major research areas cover the general theory of international law, the law of the sea, and international energy law. Dr. Yang has published extensively in these areas. His recent works and articles include Study on the History of International Law (2011); On Legal Safeguard of China's Energy Security (2009); The Sino-South Korean Fisheries Dispute: Its Present and Future (2012), etc. He was visiting Professor at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law (1999-2000) and the Centre for Energy, Petroleum and Mineral Law & Policy of Dundee University (2007). He may be contacted at: fxyyzw@whu.edu.cn

Aryuni Yuliantiningsih is a Ph.D. candidate at the Faculty of Law of Sebelas Maret University, Surakarta, Indonesia. She graduated from Jenderal Soedirman University and Universitas Padjajaran Bandung, Indonesia. Her research focuses on international law, the law of the sea and law of treaty. Currently, Aryuni is teaching these fields at Jenderal Soedirman University. Her research article, titled ASEAN's Challenges in Addressing Refugee and Human Trafficking Issues of Rohingya was recognized the best article at International Conference Law, Business, and Social Justice held by Atmajaya University Yogyakarta 2016. She may be contacted at: aryuni71@gmail.com

Hartiwiningsih is Professor in Criminal Law and Head of Doctoral Program at Faculty of Law of Sebelas Maret University (“UNS”), Surakarta, Indonesia. She graduated from Lampung University (S.H.) and Diponegoro University, Semarang Indonesia. (M.Hum./Ph.D). Hartiwiningsih is teaching criminal law, environmental criminal law and economic criminal law at UNS. She has published five books in Bahasa Indonesia and many academic papers in national and international journals. She may be contacted at: hartiwiningsih@yahoo.com

Ade Maman Suherman is Professor of International Law and Dean at Faculty of Law at Jenderal Soedirman University. He went to Groningen University (MSc) and the University of Indonesia (Ph. D.). His research focuses on international law, international trade law, and international organization law. Professor Suherman has published many books and articles in national and international journals. He may be contacted at: ademamans@yahoo.com

Emmy Latifah is an Associate Professor of International Law at Sebelas Maret University. Dr. Emmy Latifah focuses on international law, the law of the sea, treaty law, and dispute settlement law. She is an arbitrator for the Indonesian National Arbitrage Agency (Badan Arbitrase Nasional Indonesia). Emmy has published academic papers in national and international journals. Now, she is a Member of the Asian Institute of Alternative Dispute Resolution. She may be contacted at: emmy.latifah@yahoo.com

Zuraini Ab. Hamid is a lecturer at Ahmad Ibrahim Kulliyah of Laws, International Islamic University Malaysia. She is the author of Human Trafficking in Malaysia (2017) and Anti-Human Trafficking Laws in Malaysia (2017), as well as numerous articles, which have been published in national and international journals. She is actively involved in research related to human trafficking and international issues, where she is working under a few research grants as principal and co-researcher. Her main research interests are criminal law, national security, and international law. Dr. Zuraini was formerly a Deputy Public Prosecutor at Attorney General’s Chambers of Malaysia. She may be contacted at:

zurainihamid@iium.edu.my

Bijun Xu is an Assistant Researcher and postdoctoral research fellow in the School of Public Policy & Management at Tsinghua University. She obtained her LL.B. from Tsinghua University (2011), LL.M. from the University of Michigan-Ann Arbor (2012) and Ph.D. from the University of Hong Kong (2017). She was awarded “Hong Kong Ph.D. Fellowship Scheme” by the Research Grants Council of Hong Kong. Her research project, “A Study on the First Sino-Japanese War from the Perspective of International Law - In the Context of the Discourse of Civilization in the 19th Century,” is currently funded by China Postdoctoral Science Foundation. Her academic interests include public international law, critical legal studies, and historical research. She may be contacted at: xubijun@mail.tsinghua.edu.cn

Nany Hur is a senior research fellow at Lee & Ko, giving advisory comments to the corporate clients regarding public international law and international economic law. Drawing upon her extensive academic backgrounds as a legal scholar, Dr. Hur has published articles on a broad range of international trade and investment matters, including the WTO, FTA, and ISDS. Nany is teaching international economic law at Korea University and Sogang University. She obtained her LL.B. and Ph.D. from Korea University and LL.M. from the University of Pennsylvania. Also, Dr. Hur has conducted professional legal research on public international law. She may be contacted at: nanyhur@hanmail.net

Yang Yu is an Associate Professor of Law at the WTO Chair Institute-China (WTO Chairs Programme) of Shanghai University of International Business and Economics. He is also a research fellow at the Shanghai Center for Global Trade and Economic Governance. He was awarded Ph.D. in law from FuDan University. Besides holding a Master’s degree in Economics, Dr. Yu was awarded a degree of European Master in Law and Economics (jointly awarded by Bologna University, Ghent University, and Hamburg University) with the European Union Erasmus Mundus Scholarship. He visited many foreign academic institutions including Institute of Law and Economics of Law School of Hamburg University (2007-09), Max Planck Institute for Intellectual Property and Competition Law (2013-14), East-West Center (2015), American University Washington College of Law (2016), and the University of Utah S.J. Quinney College of Law (2018). Professor Yu has been consulting the Shanghai Service Base for International Trade IPR Overseas Protection since 2014. He is also a member of the editorial board of JOURNAL OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS (since 2015) and CHINA AND WTO REVIEW (since 2017). His current research interests cover IP-related legal and policy issues in China-US bilateral trade and standard-related patent issues and patent law. Dr. Yu has published books and articles in both Chinese and English. He may be contacted at: wtoyuyang@suibe.edu.cn

Xiao Mao is a research student focusing on international dispute settlement at the University of Oxford, where she is sponsored by the Rhodes Scholarship. She holds an MSc in International Crimes and Criminology from Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, LL.M. in International Law from University College London (with distinction), and LL.B. from Shanghai Jiao Tong University (with distinction). Before coming to Oxford, Xiao practiced international law in a Pro-bono Law Firm and an NGOs. She may be contacted at: xiao.mao@law.ox.ac.uk

Amad Sudiro is Dean and Associate Professor at Tarumanagara University. Dr. Amad Sudiro obtained Ph.D. (Air and Outer Space Law) from Universitas Indonesia in 2010. He has published over 50 academic articles in international and domestic journals, books, and other publications. His main research interests cover public international law, air law, outer space law, and international business transaction. Dr. Amad Sudiro is a member of the International Association of Law Schools and the Asian Law Institute. He may be contacted at: ahmads@fh.untar.ac.id

Hong Thao Nguyen is a Member of the UN International Law Commission for the term of 2017-2021. In 2018, he was appointed as second Vice Chairman of the Commission. Dr. Nguyen is teaching international law at the Diplomacy Academy of Vietnam and the National University of Hanoi. His main academic specializations are in public international law, the law of the sea, international organizations, international humanitarian and environmental law. Professor Nguyen was the Vietnamese ambassador to Malaysia (2011-4) and Kuwait (2014-7). He is Chief Editor of the Vietnamese Yearbook on International Law. Dr. Nguyen is the author of a series of works on international law, especially on the maritime dispute resolutions. He may be contacted at: nguyenhongthao57@gmail.com