

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Junghwan Choi is a lecturer and foreign expert at Dalian Maritime University (DMU) Law School, China. He earned a Bachelor of Marine Engineering and a Master of Laws at the Korea Maritime and Ocean University (Busan, South Korea). He was also awarded an LL.M. in International Maritime Law with Merit from Swansea University (UK) and Ph.D. in Law from the University of Exeter (UK). Dr. Choi's main areas of expertise are Public Maritime Law,

Law of the Sea, International Marine Environmental Law, Marine Policy, and the IMO Conventions. He was Research Fellow on the EU Maritime Industry and the Maritime Cluster Networking in Korea (2017-20). He is currently Director of International Affairs at the Korea Institute of Maritime Law. Prior to joining DMU, he was a teaching associate and lecturer at the Korea Maritime and Ocean University. Professor Choi has a special knowledge for maritime education and training. Furthermore, he is a qualified second-class engineer and has been aboard merchant ships more than five years as the first engineer. He may be contacted at: junghwanchoi@dmlu.edu.cn

Jinyup Kim is a lecturer of Public International Law at Myongji University in Republic of Korea. His research interest lies in international environmental law with special references to dispute settlement. Dr. Kim is currently conducting research on how to regulate transboundary marine pollution under international law. He received his LL.M. from the University of Edinburgh and Ph.D. from the University of Glasgow in the UK. He may be contacted at: kjy3751@gmail.com

Mary George is a Professor of Law at the University of Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia and Associate Member of the Institute of Ocean and Earth Sciences at the same university. She graduated from the London School of Economics and Political Science (LL.M.) and the University of Sydney (Ph.D.). Professor George currently teaches, among other subjects, the International Law of the Sea.

Her main research focuses on global ocean, security and maritime challenges, the South China Sea, state practice, impact of Covid-19 on the shipping industry and seafarers, and national ocean governance. Her most recent works are: Marine Debris in Malaysia: A review on the pollution intensity and mitigating measures, MARINE POLLUTION BULLETIN 167 (2021); “Chapter 4: Maritime Security and Demilitarisation of the South China Sea” in Keyuan Zou (ed), ROUTLEDGE HANDBOOK OF THE SOUTH CHINA SEA (2021). She may be contacted at: maryg@um.edu.my

Anneliz R. George is an Associate at Messrs. Chooi & Company + Cheang & Ariff, Kuala Lumpur practicing Dispute Resolution. She graduated from the University of Sydney with a double degree (B.Ec. & LL.B.), and the University of Malaya (M.Ec. where she was awarded the Mokhzani Memorial Gold Medal). Anneliz has also served as the Special Projects Officer and Head of Law and Policy at the Bar Council Malaysia. Her most recent publication is: Registration of BBNJ Research Activities: A Move towards Transparency in Research Governance, XI JOURNAL OF EAST ASIA AND INTERNATIONAL LAW (2018). She may be contacted at: anneliz@gmail.com

Patthara Limsira is currently an Assistant Professor of International Law at Ramkhamhaeng University, Thailand. He is also Regional Correspondent of the Journal of East Asia and International Law, Associate Editor of China and WTO Review, and Editorial Board of Ramkhamhaeng Law Journal. Professor Limsira obtained his LL.B. (cum laude) and LL.M. at Chulalongkorn University, Thailand. He has served as a Volunteer Judge and an Administrator of the Phillip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition, Thailand National Round. He has been appointed as an honorably advisor in several committees in the Senate of Thailand. His main research interests cover public international law, ASEAN law, international coffee agreement, and history of international law. He may be contacted at: Patthara@ru.ac.th

Luye Mou is Associate Professor at Zhejiang University Guanghua Law School, China. He earned a Ph.D. from Peking University, and LL.M. & LL.B. from China University of Political Science and Law. He also got an LL.M. from Harvard Law School. Dr. Mou was a Fulbright visiting scholar for the East Asian Legal Studies program of Harvard Law School. His research interests focus on the criminal law and procedure, evidence, capital punishment, legal profession, and comparative criminal justice. Professor Mou has co-authored four books and published more than twenty articles. Comments and critiques of his article are welcomed. He may be contacted at: via luye_mou@zju.edu.cn Sefriani is the Head of the Department of International Law at Faculty of Law, Universitas Islam Indonesia, Yogyakarta, Indonesia. Sefriani obtained her first Bachelor Degree in Law from Universitas Gadjah Mada, Yogyakarta; Master of Laws from Padjadjaran University, Bandung; and Doctoral Degree from Universitas Gadjah Mada. In 2008, she was inaugurated as Professor of International Law at Universitas Islam Indonesia.

Her research areas and expertise include Public International Law, International Humanitarian and Human Rights Law, Private International Law, International Investment Law and Arbitration. She may be contacted at: sefriani@uii.ac.id

Nur Gemilang Mahardhika is a Junior Lecturer of International Law at Universitas Islam Indonesia's Faculty of Law, Yogyakarta, Indonesia, where she was awarded a Bachelor of Law Degree. She then obtained her Master of Laws from the University of Melbourne, Australia. Her research focuses are on International Trade Law, International Investment Law, International Commercial Arbitration, International Law of the Seas, Outer Space Law, and International Maritime Law. In addition to research and teaching, she is an editorial board member of several law journals. She may be contacted at: gemilang.mahardhika@uii.ac.id

Tran Thang Long is currently Vice Dean (in charge) of Faculty of Legal Languages and a senior lecturer of International Law at Ho chi Minh City University of Law. He received his LL.B. and LL.M. degrees from Ho chi Minh City University of Law, Vietnam in 1997 and 2002, respectively, and Ph.D. in Law degree at La Trobe University, Australia in 2011. Since 1997, Dr. Long has been teaching various subjects of international law at the undergraduate and postgraduate level. Professor Long's research interests are Public International Law, International Investment Law and Competition Law. He has conducted several research projects and published numerous articles at international law journals and books. Professor Long has presented many papers in domestic and international academic conferences. He may be contacted at: tlong@hcmulaw.edu.vn

Sri Wartini is an Associate Professor at Universitas Islam Indonesia Faculty of Law. She obtained LL.B. from Gadjah Mada University; LL.M. Padjadjaran University; and Ph.D. from Ahmad Ibrahim Kulliyah of Laws at the International Islamic University Malaysia. Her doctoral research was “Transboundary Movement of Living Modified Organism under the Cartagena Protocol and the SPS Agreement: A Legal Analysis with Special Reference to the Precautionary Principle.” Professor Sri Wartini is mainly interested in the International Environmental Law, International Law on Human Rights and the Law of the Sea. She may be contacted at: sri.wartini@uii.ac.id