

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Muhammad Salman Shafiq is a Ph.D. scholar of Zhejiang University Guanghua Law School, Hangzhou, China. He obtained an LL.M. in Commercial Law from the University of Management and Technology Lahore and an LL.B. from the University of the Punjab Lahore, Pakistan. Mr. Shafiq was also awarded B.S. (Computer Science) and M.B.A. (Banking and Finance) from the University of Central Punjab Lahore, Pakistan. He has been a visiting faculty at Punjab University School of Law and Policy as well as the University of Management and Technology Lahore. He is a practicing lawyer in corporate matters and running his law firm in Pakistan. His research interests include global competition law, IP law, antitrust law and international investment law. He may be contacted at: salmanshafiq1@gmail.com

Hojjat Salimi Turkamani is an associate professor in international law at Azerbaijan Shahid Madani University, Iran. He received his Ph.D. in public international law in 2012 from Allameh Tabataba'i University in Tehran. Professor Turkamani teaches several international law courses, including environmental law and energy law, with a special focus on sustainable development. Dr. Turkamani has been a visiting fellow at the University of Amsterdam (2012) and Utrecht University (2015). Since 2023, he has been working as an international research fellow of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation at the Research Center for Sustainable Development Law in Heidelberg University, Germany. His research field is international climate change law from the perspective of fossil fuel-dependent developing countries. He may be contacted at: h.salimiturkamani@uni-heidelberg.de

Youyou Jiang is a lecturer at School of Law and Politics of Nanjing Tech University, China. She received her Ph.D. in international law at Nanjing University. Youyou has published articles in conflicts of law. She has lead one research project of the Youth Programme of the National Social Science Foundation of China. Her research area is international private law. She may be contacted at: jyy@njtech.edu.cn

Chenxi Wang is an associate professor at School of Intellectual Property at Nanjing University of Science and Technology. She obtained her Ph.D. in law from the University of New South Wales, Sydney. In 2017, she interned at the WTO Secretariat under the WTO's Ph.D. Support Program. Her research interests focus on China's interaction with the WTO law. Professor Wang has published articles on peer-reviewed journals such as Journal of World Trade, Journal of Contemporary China, Asian Journal of WTO and Health Law and Policy, Hong Kong Law Journal, and Manchester Journal of International Economic Law. Her Ph.D. thesis, "Central-provincial Dynamics in China's WTO Disputes: 'Local Protectionism' versus International Pressure" was published in 2022. She may be contacted at: pureair_wang@msn.com

Minh Hoang Dang is a law lecturer at FPT University, Vietnam. He holds an LL.M. in International Business Law from Newcastle University, UK. As a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Economics and Law, Vietnam, his research centers on law and gender within the Vietnamese employment framework. Dang has made a significant contribution to Vietnamese legal scholarship, especially with his involvement in a project titled, "Toward the Vietnamese Feminist Judgement," a pioneering publication introducing the importance of feminist legal theory in Vietnam. His work emphasizes the application of this theory in Vietnamese legal practices to advocate for women's rights. He may be contacted at: minhdh22710@sdh.uel.edu.vn

Boris Kondoch is currently a professor at Far East University (South Korea) and Editor of the Journal of International Peacekeeping (Brill). His main research interests are the international law of military operations, peacekeeping, international criminal law, human rights and Northeast Asian relations. His publications include among others, North Korea in Oxford Handbook of the Responsibility to Protect (A.J. Bellamy, T. Dunne eds., 2016); The Responsibility of Peacekeepers, Their Sending States, and International Organizations (co-author: M. Zwanenburg) in The Handbook of International Law of Military Operations (2016); Peacekeeping and the Asia-Pacific (2016, co-editor: Brendan Howe) and Sanctions in International Law in Oxford Bibliographies (2016). His current research focuses on North Korea and international law. He may be contacted at: kondoch@hotmail.com

Joko Sriwidodo completed his Doctoral Education in Law at Jayabaya University, Jakarta, Indonesia. Currently, he is an associate professor of criminal law and permanent lecturer at the Faculty of Law, Bhayangkara University, Jakarta Raya, Indonesia. Dr. Sriwidodo has Competency Certification: 1. Legal Consultant; 2. Legal Auditor; 3. Mediator; 4. Curator; 5. Assessor BNSP (National Professional Certification Agency) of Indonesia; and 5.

Intellectual Property Rights Consultant. He has published scientific papers in several National and International Journals. He may be contacted at: joko.sriwidodo@dsn.ubharajaya.ac.id

Diana Fitriana is a permanent lecturer at the Faculty of Law, Bhayangkara University, Jakarta Raya, Indonesia. Currently, she is pursuing a Doctorate in Law or S3 at Tarumanegara University, Jakarta, Indonesia with a concentration in business law. Diana is a member of the Business Competition Lecturer Forum. Her research focuses on intellectual property law, business competition law, and trade law. She may be contacted at: diana.fitriana@dsn.ubharajaya.ac.id

ubharajaya.ac.id

Dwi Andayani Budisetyowati is a permanent lecturer at the Faculty of Law of Bhayangkara University, Greater Jakarta, Indonesia. Her research interest is in Hermeneutics of Judges' Decisions, Pilkada versus Empty Boxes, and Law Enforcement of Article 181 of Law No. 23 of 2007. Recently, she published a book: On Harmonization of Mineral and Coal Regulations in Indonesia. She participated in international conferences as a speaker in Shanghai, Manila, and

Singapore, Seattle, and Washington, D.C. She may be contacted at: dwi.andayani@dsn.ubharajaya.ac.id

Alya Alshamsi is an accomplished In-House Senior Legal Counsel with over nine years of extensive industry experience in the United Arab Emirates. She specializes in navigating complex legal landscapes. Alya is currently pursuing an LL.M. in Air and Space Law at the University of Sharjah. Her academic research focuses on cybersecurity in outer space. With a strong blend of practical experience and academic insight, Alya is dedicated to addressing contemporary challenges and supporting innovation and security in space endeavors. She may be contacted at: A.hs_1@live.com

Sheer Abbas is an Assistant professor at the Department of Public Law, University of Sharjah, UAE. He has earned a Ph.D. in international space law from Beijing Institute of Technology. He has published plenty of research papers on space law, international law, agricultural policy, criminology and public policy in various internationally referred journals. He may be contacted at: sheer.abbas@sharjah.ac.ae

Mariam Bin Ghaith is an assistant professor of international law at Kuwait University College of Law. Dr. Mariam earned an LL.B. degree from Kuwait University College of Law and then her LL.M./S.J.D. from American University Washington College of Law specializing in human rights (domestic workers in the GCC). Her research area includes human rights, environmental law, international criminal law. She may be contacted at: m.binghaith@gmail.com

gmail.com

Abdirizak Osman Abdullahi is a distinguished legal professional with experiences in academia, legal consultancy, and legal research. He currently serves as Head and senior law lecturer at the Faculty of Law of SIMAD University. Mr. Abdirizak is also a member of Garqaad Legal Consultant. He holds an LL.B. from SIMAD University and an LL.M from the International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM). He may be contacted at: Abdirizaak.osman15@gmail.com

osman15@gmail.com

Stuart Malawer holds a Ph.D. from the Dept. of International Relations at the University of Pennsylvania. He has a J.D. from the Cornell Law School and a Diploma from The Hague Academy of International Law (Research Centre). He also studied at the Harvard Law School and St. Peter's College at Oxford University. Professor Malawer was a member of the Virginia Governor's trade missions to China, India, and Japan. Dr. Malawer was awarded the Hardy Cross Dillard Award by the Virginia State Bar, in recognition of serving as Chairman of its International Practice Section and Special Editor of the Virginia Lawyer. Most recently, he published articles on the US-China trade litigation, Trump's trade policies, and cybersecurity. Recent books have included Trump and Trade - Policy and Law (2021), Global Trade and International Law (2012), US National Security

Law (2009), and WTO Law, Litigation and Policy (2007). Professor Malawer served as the Director and Founder of the Graduate International Transactions Program at George Mason University (a masters' program in international affairs). He was subsequently named the Distinguished Service Professor of Law & International Trade, as well as the Director of the Oxford Trade Program. This program was held annually in partnership with St. Peter's College at Oxford and Geneva. The GMU Alumni Association named Professor Malawer the Distinguished Faculty Member of the Year. He was a gubernatorial appointee to the Virginia Economic Development Partnership and recently to the Virginia International Trade Committee. He may be contacted at: StuartMalawer@msn.com

Baatar Oyunjargal has been serving as a senior lecturer in the Department of Private Law at the National University of Mongolia School of Law since 2021. Her research focuses on corporate governance, commercial law, and the intersection of law and technology. She may be contacted at: oyunjargal.b@num.edu.mn

Bayalagmaa Bayalagmaa has been working as a lecturer in the Department of Private Law at the National University of Mongolia School of Law since 2021. She conducts teaching and research in the fields of electronic evidence and the intersection of law and technology. She may be contacted at: bayalagmaa@num.edu.mn

Andrew Wolman works as a senior lecturer in the Law School of City, University of London, where he has taught since September 2018. Prior to joining City, Professor Wolman taught human rights and international law for nine years at the Graduate School of International and Area Studies of Hankuk University of Foreign Studies, in Seoul, Korea. His research is focused on human rights and refugee law in East Asia, the international response to North Korean human rights violations, and the implementation of international human rights law at the local level. He may be contacted at: andrew.wolman.2@city.ac.uk

Sumiko Miyatsuka works as an analyst in the US Army, Zama, Japan, where she has monitored North Korea and its surrounding region since 2008. Sumiko also teaches the Korean language and Korean history and culture at Kokugakuin Tochigi Junior college, Tochigi prefecture, and Teikyo University of Science, Tokyo, respectively. Dr. Miyatsuka received a Ph.D. in Political Science and North Korean Studies from Myongji University, Seoul, South

Korea. Her research focuses on politics and society in North Korea as well as the dynamics of the migration of North Korean defectors. She may be contacted at: ms.schola@gmail.com